CHAPTER XXXIX.

A Dramatic Exit

May had taken her fortune in her own hands. She had the thought taken out of her due at Hardeale Park from the day of her arrival. There was no reason, she thought, why she should not make her own fortune. Pictures were more valuable than she had expected. She had disposed of one or two pictures and had some anxiety as to the immediate future. But she was militarily enough. She had the audacity to crane and confine. She missed the pure air of the Downs and longed for the sun and the carefree, sun-drenched stride of a good horse under her. At the end of three days she had given up all hope of a full horse to be had at Hardeale. Already she was trying to think of some excuse for returning home.

She did not realize how her wishes were to be gratified. She was to be married to Phillips. She was looking for her all over London. He had jumped to the correct conclusion that she had run away to Alice Carden, but the trouble was to obtain Miss Carden's address.

Miss Phillips, who fortunately ran against Phillips, who fortunately ran where Carden lived.

You won't find him at home, he said.

"Oh, I don't want to see Phillips again. I took very much. I'll see you later, in the park, perhaps."

I'm busy, Phillips said darkly. I've a good many things to do this morning. I must get back to my office, to Gwynne and one or other big plunger. After that, I have an appointment with men of Scotland Yard, which will take us down to Mirk Park with a view to getting over on certain men we know of."

Phillips hustled and Fiedlen had to wait, sweating out the modest residence of Major Carden. He was disappointed to hear that Miss Carden had run away. He was told to be told that Miss Carden friend was the house. Without waiting for an answer, he went in. He was led upstairs into the room where May was seated. She had pulled a chair from the sofa and sat down. Her eyes started at the sound of Fiedlen's voice. It was the same, same—same—same—in every way.

You have found me out.

Oh, you have got to earth, Fiedlen smiled. You have had some difficulty in getting the Major's address, but felt quite sure, when I told you, that you would be able to find him. At any rate, I know why you left home, had a long interview with your father, and then I think he has been a little foolish."

May smiled through her tears.

But what else could he say?

He had come to you, you know everything you would not blame him for it, I do know."

Now, tell me do you know anything of the great conspiracy?" he asked.

May had come to him before you left home, and did you hear Sir George say everything?

I must tell you, Harry; I must tell

Girl Cured of Disfiguring Pimples

By Cultura Ointment. Broken Out
Face when Twenty or Thirteen,
Were Most Embarrassing,
Had Everything

A Nova Scotia girl, Miss Mabel Morrell, of Dover West, writes: "When I was about twenty or thirteen years of age, my face broke out with pimples, and I had every thing to get rid of them, but I failed. They came out in groups and developed blisters, and I was afraid to go to the library or church before you left home, and did you hear Sir George say everything. May exclaimed,

I must tell you, Harry; I must tell

Baby's Face Like Raw Beef

"My baby had a large pimple on his forehead. It burst and spread all over his face, and he had a fever. He had a cold, all intermixed with bad pimples, and he was very ill. I used to scratch it and cry terribly. I took him to a doctor but he got worse. Dr. Copley, of Boston, Massachusetts, had him fastened. They were sensational enough even to the ordinary person, but to children they were preposterous."

menasody. I never felt so ashamed and humiliated in my life. It was bad enough to be turned out of the house because I refused to marry that girl, who was the daughter of my father who had entered into a plot with Mr. Copley to do a disgraceful thing. I have been beaten up, and I am still longer. And I suppose the mischief is done. I suppose the villain will never know how they have been avenged. I shall be the last to tell you."

The girl broke down, utterly unable to proceed.

You need not worry about that, Fiedlen said. I quite understand what your feelings are. But what you so much desire is to be free. That is all. Dr. Copley will spare you and yours, because your father has done a great wrong. And probably before the day is out Copley will be as helpless as he can be. He will be beaten up, and he will wonder. I am going to tell you something in the nature of a romance. The villain will be stopped, the villain will be stopped, and the villain will be stopped.

The most important of these deals is that the state of the art of the law authorizes to demand the reproduction of any work of art they may accuse."

It was uncommunicated resolved that as regards living artists the right to sue for damages is not so far as the authority to copy must be limited by him; but that the directors of picture galleries and other persons who desire to copy for the purpose of study, on condition that such copy is in no way a representation of the original, far removed from the class of doubtful and experimental remedies. Your dealer can supply it.

Selling the Opportunity.

While out for a walk with her ill-luck, auntie had the misfortune to drop a gold ring on her skirt as she crossed a stile.

Eliza was quite willing to eager to help her, but she would not stop down and carefully tearing off the piece that is hanging loose?"

"Please, dear," said Eliza, "I will please, and duly commanded her task.

For several minutes there was a great deal of silence, while Eliza was fearing than was necessary to remove a small length of broken lace.

Yes, replied the little girl, rising quickly to her feet, "you will be wanted enough for my dolly's shirt when I was about it, and the little bit of lace will not matter."

Eliza was not wrong.

Minaret Liniment Cure, Garget in Convalescence.

Dusting Games.

The summer was nearly over, and the last of the crowd had gone. The pier and sand were deserted. Eliza had just come out of the latter, and a small group on the former. Along the road parallel to the pier, a man was dusting games.

He gave a hasty look over the sands and sandpits.

Darling, the folk on the pier gave a short burst of laughter, while the lady took up her book, but bugged not an inch.

Did you hear that, you madam? at the last election?

The Australian woman answered with a smile.

With a large maw, she trimmed and said:

Have you any creams for restoring the complexion?

Restoring? miss? You mean preserving, said the druggist hurriedly.

And then she told the woman $1 worth of complexion creams.

How She Voted.

At a luncheon in New York, Dr. Lyman Abbott, sipping a glass of beer, said: "I am voting for Wilson."

He had voted for his father.

Wilson's success was nearly over,

and the last of the crowd had gone.

He had voted for Wilson.

The flies that are now in your kitchen and dining-room were probably hatching on some indescribable plant life in the tropics. As a single fly often carries many eggs, it is not difficult to understand why housekeeper to assist in exterminating this wretched enemy of the human race.

WILSON'S FLY PADS

kill flies in such immense quantities as cannot be approached by other fly killers.

HE SAID: "How far we have come in our way! The fact that we put salt on all meat and vegetables—in bread, cakes and biscuits—was the influence of being an absolutely ignorant savage."

BALD and no one could make me believe that I was not in the world when than my old standy.

An American tourist, in getting tea in a tea shop along Shanghai, was surprised to find that he could purchase five pounds of a certain kind of tea for 10 cents. When he asked what ten pounds the price would be? The American argued with the Chinese, who said, "Ten pounds?" The American replied, "Yes, I want ten pounds but the proprietor of the store insisted that logic was of his side. After much maneuvering, More rich, more poor, you can expect him to give it.

Not a satisfying diet

Lady of the House—Just say, you have not had anything to eat to-day? Tramp—Lady, if you believe me, I've been living on raw beans.

You might go to the butchers and get some bacon, I suggest Mrs. Household.

All right, responded Mr. Household. And I'll go to the store and mint and get some rye to go with it.

Breaking it Gently

Two very good friends—Scobie-man and an Englishman—met in the smoking room of a hotel, and the Englishman, who was a man of few words, found in Gracie-Nuts the only thing that seemed to hold her up and furnish her with a little support.

"From infamy," she says, "I have been strong. Being ambitious, I went to the High School, but soon had to abandon my studies on account of my poor eyesight."

"My food did not agree with me. I grew thin and despondent. So I began to drink beer, which I took for a cure, but I suffered constantly from nervousness in spite of all sorts of remedies."

This wretched condition continued until I was twenty-five, when I became a mother. I was the only one of those who had cases like mine and who were getting well, by eating Gracie-Nuts.

I had little faith but procured a box and after the first bite I expected to feel better. I did, but I had not gained from any ordinary food. I slept and rested better that night, and a few days began to grow stronger.

"I had a new feeling of peace and quietness, and, to my great joy, the headaches and nervousness left me, and life became easier. I am the mistress of a happy home, and my children are healthy and well."

How did you manage, asked the landlord's friend, to get all the guests to pay for the boarder? They set a good table over there, and they certainly have a beaten record.

Elm Leads in Canadian Cooperage

Although the elm still leads among the woods used for slack cooperage, spruce has increased rapidly, and the total output of barrels in the Dominion last year there were used, according to figures given by the Foresty branch of the Department of the Interior, 30,016,000 pieces of elm, while spruce was used to the extent of against 27,004,000 pieces of spruce. There were, however, only 11,000,000 pieces of basswood used, while 1,000,000 elm and 900,000 spruce or elm staves reported for 1911 than for 1910. In time, elm will probably be the chief wood used for barrels and beams. The ultimate substitute for elm will probably be birch wood, which is more durable and less expensive.

Slack cooperage is of vastly greater importance than tight cooperage in Canada, and the majority of Canadian products are of a rough and dry nature, such as lime, soap, sugar, dried fruit, tobacco, etc., and because Canadian elm is not well suited to slack cooperage.

White oak, the only wood which can be used for containers of alcohol, is not well suited to slack cooperage.

White oak is largely exhausted in Canadian woodlands. In 1911 only 2,600,000 oak staves were used.

A rough estimate on the part of the Foresty Branch places the maximum number of barrels in the manufacture of all classes of cooperage at 100,000,000 barrels per annum.

There are 2,000,000 barrels of Kidney-Liver Pills.

Women are very often deceived by advertisements for kidney diseases.

The pains in the back are attributed to other derangements, and the kidney trouble is often run on until beyond the reach of medical science.

There are immediate suffering, and the life itself is risked, because backache is not recognized as the most marked symptom of kidney trouble.

There is no treatment which so quickly relieves pain as curies kidney disease.

One of the best cures is Kidney-Liver Pills. As proof of this, read Miss Patterson's case.

Miss Patterson, Haldimand, Gaope Co., Que., writes: "When I first had kidney trouble, I had a great deal of pain, and I did not know what was the trouble. In looking up Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills advertised and decided to try them. I had not had a doctor since before I had completed the third box, and my kidney trouble was as bad as ever. I then took a dose of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and I believe the cure is near at hand. I am now all right, and before I had completed the third box, I had no more kidney trouble. I therefore believe the cure is near at hand."

Shameful

Extract from a young lady's letter from Victoria, La., to her mother, written in the year 1850:

"I am writing to you to tell you there are strongly recommended to women, who are prone to disorders of the digestive organs that men should not be allowed to see us."

It was to gratify your extravagance, tattered the desperate man, that I committed the forestry. The crime is upon your head, and I am compelled to apologize and grieve at him wonderingly.

Is my crime on straight?

Mr. Tinkle—They say that Mrs. Neiman is becoming more proper every day.

Mr. Dimples—Indeed, you should be very proper, for there are a white a while ago she learned that her husband owned common stock in that he was a scoundrel.

How could I?

Mr. Wilson—Sikes had found what, in his opinion, was a snug cranny in which to hide, and a safe mode of access was easy. He waited till the house was quiet, and then, hovering, grasped the tree, he slowly and carefully climbed up the side of the tree, and then, through the window, saw his master.

Comment

The other day a commercial man called at The News office. He didn't have anything to sell, but left a valuable advertising contract for us, which was so much better. He said "You have a very pretty and clean village here, and lots of business. Here is a town that will grow and its growth will be of the mushroom variety, either. Why don't we hear of this town down east?" "Now, that's the rub, gentle reader. The citizens want the town to advance, but are doing practically nothing to advertise it abroad. Western Canada is advancing today as never before, and nearly every one must know of parties who are grubbing along back in the cent belt and trying to raise families on a mere pittance a week. They should be persuaded to come west where good wages await every one, and their families have a chance in this land of opportunity. There is one way that you can assist in this work, send them a copy of the Carlstadt News for a year at one dollar, or a six months' subscription 50 cents. You will be surprised what an effect this will have, and Carlstadt will reap the benefit.

Apropos of the above, read this from the Ingoldsby correspondence in the Woodstock (Ontario) Sentinel:

"Ingoldsby, Aug. 25.—"What's the buzz?" The question was asked of a number of the men who left yesterday afternoon on the C. P. R. "harvesters" excursion for the West. Trunks piled high on the pier on the platform of the station looked ominous; there was every appearance that the West had a great work to do. Uttered actively by the thousand stretch unfeigned before the eyes of the man who has faith in himself, in his power to work hard to obtain success, it is the kind of hope, of opportunity, uses the words of service "it's the great big, broad land way out yonder with its unlimited possibilities that keeps ever calling to the young and the venturesome."

An Agricultural Society should be formed in this town at once. There is a lot country throughout that would support an animal fair in splendid fashion. There are plenty of farms and ranches in the vicinity, and many more who by most means would be in like position. Dr. Mason is interested in a movement like this, and if he receives the proper encouragement, will get the organization started.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM CALVIN GOSS

Calvin Goss, erstwhile editor of The Progress, has been touring B. C. since his departure from the busy burg, and the latest word from him is that he is starting a weekly paper in Newport. The following letter from him was written soon after he left here. It is an interesting epistle, telling about the beautiful scenery, fruit lands and —but you may read it for yourself!

Arrow Lake, B. C.
Editor Carlstadt News—I have spent nearly two days now in my travels through British Columbia and it would be presumptuous in me to attempt an adequate description of its scenery. Suffice it to say that this scenery has consisted for the most part in mountains, trees, lakes and streams of exhausting beauty and grandeur. I have often heard others speak of this beauty and grandeur in a general way and perhaps unlike others who have heard the same story have wished they could be more specific and descriptive; but after seeing for myself I do not wonder that so much must be left to the imagination, for it cannot be described.

Today I spent in Nelson, a city of six or seven thousand people, hemmed in and overlapped on all sides by high mountains, and from the emerald of Kootenay Lake spread out upon the mountain sides a city of splendid buildings and beautiful houses. In many of the gardens surrounding these residences there luxuriant vegetables and trees bending and almost breaking with their loads of fruit. I saw trees literally loaded with ripe peaches. It is odd my mouth watered but I didn't stop to pick any. Instead I went up town and bought four great big juicy ones in a grocery store for a dime and ate them all at one sitting. Nelson is taking on new life and rearing from the lethargy which overtook it when the gold mining days began to wane.

Tonight, July 31st, I am on the steamer Bonington on Arrow Lake, en route to Revelstoke and as I write this we have just broken away from the long grueling haul on the shore. I can tell a great deal of the scenery, as it is dark and raining, but I notice there are mountains on either side of the lakes.

If I should be asked my opinion of British Columbia so far as I have seen it, as a land to emigrate to I would have to say, "don't." There are opportunities here but one would have to adapt himself to new conditions and he might spend a lot of money and experience some anxiety in doing it. Fruit farming is all right here after you get your farm cleared and the trees in bearing—but the clearing, oh, there's the rub. I heard a man say today that bottom land here would cost from two to three hundred dollars an acre, clear, and then it would not be good fruit land but all right for vegetables.

I wish you could see some of the truck and fruit farms along Kootenay Lake. Some of them are not more than six or eight in extent with a house on them that looks more like a toy than a place of residence. Will write again when I arrive at coast. Sincerely, Calvin Goss.

CALL FOR HARVESTERS

PRARIO PROVINCES ARE CRYING OUT FOR MORE HELP.

It is Greatly Feared That the Supply of Men from the East will not Meet the Demand for Labor Required to Garner the Big Western Crop This Year.

Winnipeg.—The men are not arriving in sufficient numbers, and more help is urgently needed throughout the prairie provinces. A. P. F. Miller, chief when he was the general manager of the harvest hands from the east to the north, says:

"The first crop which we can get from the maritime provinces, he continues, is not due until July 1st, and the second crop from Ontario was rather disappointing. The result has been that there is now about 70,000 of the harvest hands from the east to the north available."

The first crop which we can get from the maritime provinces, he continues, is not due until July 1st, and the second crop from Ontario was rather disappointing. The result has been that there is now about 70,000 of the harvest hands from the east to the north available."

Already the prairie provinces have received 4,000 men who have passed through, while the balance have either remained in the cities or gone to Alberta. Unfortunately quite a large percentage of those who have taken up residence in the west do not have an intention of working in the harvest fields, but have merely come west to "see the country."

Contrary to the expectation of many there has only been one complaint against the prairie provinces, and that points west of Winnipeg. The men have known what to expect in their new surroundings, and have come in with their minds made up as to where they intend going. "Be very careful," says Mr. Miller, "the terrible sum of money. Many of them possess wads composed of hundreds of dollars which they are not sufficient to carry them to their journeys end."

In addition to the genuine harvesters, the majority of these immigrants who have arrived in the city during the past month have come west to get out to districts where it was believed that they could immediately find employment in the mining fields.

The provincial government representatives say that they have been unable to find any evidence of unscrupulous passengers arrived trans-seas passengers. The fact that they have had little or no money to live on has caused the farmers are willing to take them as long as they will go out and work hard, and have been induced to go by the high wages. They have been accustomed to working in England, and when they return home when they can get from $2 to $4 a day that think their fortune is made.

At present the demand for labor is great from the rush of harvesters as in the past it has been great for the last two years, and the tendency is to remain in the prairie provinces.

Conditions in the West.

Ottawa.—Mr. L. G. Lake of the Public Service Commission, who has been making a tour of the West, has been probing into the question of the high cost of living in the West, and has called for an investigation.

A number of petitions have recently been received by the Government, and Mr. Lake is making an investigation and will report to the Government.

Investigate Sheep Industry.

Ottawa.—Col. McRae and Col. McEwen, the well known economists of the Department of Agriculture, are investigating for the Government the opportunities for encouraging the sheep industry, have completed their tour.

Col. McRae has been investigating particularly in British Columbia and Col. McEwen in the Maritime Provinces. They will meet at Ottawa on Friday, Aug. 10, draw up their recommendations and their report to the Minister of Agriculture.

HIGH COST OF LIVING INQUIRY.

R. H. Coats to Represent Canada at Washington Conference.

Ottawa.—It is probable that Mr. H. N. Tupper, Minister of National Defense, will represent Canada at the conference to be held in Washington in October to discuss the opportunities for encouraging the high cost of living.

The Government, some time ago, was asked to send a representative to the inquiry, which would be wide in its scope and international in character.

TO CELEBRATE CANAL OPENING.

Foreign Office Notifies United States That Great Britain Will Participate.

London.—That Great Britain might not take part in the Panama exposition on account of dissatisfaction with the conditions of participation for the Government the opportunities for encouraging the high cost of living.

The Government, some time ago, was asked to send a representative to the inquiry, which would be wide in its scope and international in character.

New Dominion $50 Popular.

Ottawa.—The new five dollar Dominion banknotes are proving quite popular.

Winnipeg.—The eastern emperor has chosen Lieutenant von Blasche, the military aviator, with whom he has been in close touch, as his woman of choice. Lieutenant von Blasche, who recently married a woman of means, has flown over 30,000 feet with a passenger in his aeroplane, has been engaged in flying competitions, and in recognition of his brilliant achievements, the emperor has given him the balance out of his private purse.

LAKE RATES NOT ABNORMAL.

Any reader, I'll wager, by shipper will be at the other end.

Port William.—That the rates down the lakes for grain this season will not be in any way abnormal, the manager of the grain elevators says.

The United States grain may have received official notification from the grain office of the Panama exposition. The extend of the participation of England in the exposition is not known, but the allusion to space of the various countries has not yet been made.

The feeling is that it may be suspended, and the general opinion of the United States as to canal tolls will be annually adjusted before the time of the opening.

Freight Sails on August 30.

London.—Hon. R. L. Borden, who came to London in July to discuss Canada's naval policy and the proposed Canadian naval expansion, has been granted a leave of absence for Canada August 30. The premier does not expect that anything will be done by the Canadian government regarding the Panama canal until after his return to Ottawa, and will, after the measure has been fully ratified by the American congress.

TAXPAYERS BILL HEAVILY.

Dominion Party Fights City of National Insurances Involving Personal Contributions.

Melbourne.—The announcement that the Commonwealth government had decided to increase the amount of postal rates, and the limit of social subsidies from a new standpoint.

London.—The plan under which every needy mother is to receive $25 on the registration of a child, is fiercely denounced by Fusion politicians as a low-down effort to buy off the Labor party's abolition of postal rates.

The first excursion which we can from the maritime provinces, he continues, is not due until July 1st, and the second crop from Ontario was rather disappointing. The result has been that there is now about 70,000 of the harvest hands from the east to the north available.

London.—In the presence of all the Salvation Army commissioners and the principal officers in London at the Victoria Street, General Head's testament, entrusted to the army's salvation, the late commander-in-chief's son, Branwell Booth, succeeded him.

Accidents resulted in which more than 100 persons were killed, as the result of a falling derrick at Kemptville, Que., on July 1, by which four railway construction hands were killed by a premature explosion.

On July 1, at Kemptville, Ont., by which four men were killed by a dynamite explosion; two killed as a result of a falling pine driver, coming in contact with live wires at Meaford, Ont., on July 1.

HINKEST TROUBLE NOT OVER.

People of South Are Now Considering Forming Separate Republic.

Hong Kong.—Several hundred foreigners, mostly Americans, are at the present time endeavoring to find and attack the pirates who, on Monday night, passed through the city, and took away, among many persons of the highest rank, three Chinese officials.

Several newspapers suggested that the pirates were free riders from the treacherous extortions of the invalid and old who are being held captive outside the temple.

METHODIST SERVICES.

The special service for young men in the Methodist Church last Sunday evening brought out a very large congregation. The music provided by the male choir and quartette was of a high order and promised well for future services in that church. The quartette was composed of Messrs. E. England, Clydale, Armstrong and Keenan.

Mr. Crystale, always eloquent, excelled himself in his message to the young men who were present in large numbers. His word picture of the young man leaving home to make his way in the world, and the place among his fellowmen, touched a tender chord in the hearts of many auditors. Mr. Crystale advised all young men to take lessons from the parental home, to take up some trade, and start in the world. He advised young men, however, that no matter where the quest of fortune took them, to remember the early home training. It was a great impression and one that will have lasting impress on the young men of Carlstadt.

HOSKIN

The Misses Sadie and Laura Brice and brother Allan spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Mustard.

Orville McIntosh took ten Sunday evening at John McKibson's.

Messrs. Truman, Potter and Potter have purchased a fine Aultman-Taylor separator and intend beginning operations in the near future.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. John McKibson is not improving as rapidly as was expected.

W. E. Mustard has returned from his trip to the Coates, bringing back a fine horse with him.

The Misses Brice spent Tuesday afternoon the guests of the Misses McIntosh.

Mrs. Prudergast is still on the sick list. We hope to see her very much improved in a few days.

Leslie Prudergast is visiting his brothers—Henry and Noble, of Rocky Coules.

The dance given in Mr. Potter's new house on Wednesday evening of last week was a grand success. The young people enjoyed themselves immensely, as there was plenty of dancing space, and did not disperse until the wee small hours of the morning.

We do harness repairs while you are shopping. We also do any shoe repairs on short notice. Carlstadt Harness Shop.
